REPUBLICANS WIN A SWEEPING VICTORY.

Taft and Sherman Get 311 Electoral Votes With

House and Senate Strongly Republican. Hughes Safe in New York.

When at 8 p. m. Tuesday it was flashed over the wire, Taft carries New York by 200,000, the story as to the victory was told. Though an early flash, it proved true. Subsequent reports were of the same nature. In short it was a landslide and yet with very large Democratic gains in the Middle West. Taft carried all of the large so-called doubtful states and wins by at least 311 electoral votes.

There will be practically no change in the political complexion of the Senate and House.

Hughes is elected in New York by 75,000.

Taft received a greater plurality in New York State than was given to Roosevelt in 1904, while the Republican pluralities have been tremendously reduced in other states as follows: Pennsylvania from 500,000 to 250,000, Illinois from 325,000 to 170,000, Indiana from 93,000 to 15,000, Wisconsin from 158,000 to 75,000, Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey were exceptions, each recording heavy Republican gains.

Missouri rejoins the solid South by 23,000 for Bryan.

Minnesota goes for Taft but retains Johnson for Governor.

Indications are that Indiana has elected Democratic Governor. Bryan's weakness is apparent from his tremendous falling behind the Democratic tickets through the country. Notably in Illinois, where he dropped 75,000 below the Democrat candidate for Governor.

IN MAINE.

Maine cast an average vote of about 10,000 and gave Taft 32,000 plurality. Taft's vote was about the same as Roosevelt's in 1904 while Bryan's was a gain over Parker's of about 30 per cent.

John P. Swasey and Frank E. Guernsey were elected in the 2nd and 4th Congressional districts to fill the short term vacancies.

Waterville and Bangor give good Republican pluralities while Knox County swings into the Republican column again.

STRIKE AT RUMFORD

Not Been Settled as Reported.

Bumer had it last week that the strike at Rumford had been settled. That conclusion had been made by the International Paper Co., which had been accepted by the Union. This report was unfounded, and up to the time we go to press no adjustment has been made.

It seems that a proposition was made to the Union on Oct. 28th. A telegram from President Carey on Monday asked the Union at Rumford to vote on the same and they voted not to accept.

Four more men were brought in by special train Tuesday to work in the International mill.

FOUR FOR THE MILL, SIX FOR THE UNION.

A member of the Paper Makers Union informs the Citizen that the crew of Paper Makers numbering six or more that were hired from Portland and came on the Monday afternoon train and were switched to the mill yard in the special car, have all joined the strikers, and did so of their own volition.

Friday night the company was more fortunate and the four men brought in went to the mill and were at work at last accounts.

NOT TILL DEC. 16TH

Will Services of Grand and Traverse Jurors of Oxford & J. Court Be Required.

South Paris, Me., Oct. 31.—Notice is given out by Clerk Whitman that grand and traverse jurors who were summoned to be in court on Nov. 4th will not be required to meet here until the 16th of December.

CHASED BY A BOB CAT.

S. B. Wright who resides at Peru Annex started one evening recently to go over Baxter Hill. After going a short distance he heard something in the bushes near by. Mr. Wright had a flash light in his pocket and by the aid of that he saw what he believed to be a bob cat. Not being armed Mr. Wright started off at a quick pace and was followed by the animal for several rods when it went into a tree and the man was allowed to go along without being molested although somewhat frightened. There have been quite a good many sheep killed in that vicinity during the past summer and it is thought that instead of dogs as it was first supposed, the destruction may have been wrought by this animal.

BOARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors for every kindly word and deed in the time of our great bereavement in the loss of our little daughter.

ARTHUR F. KOWELL.

ENTERTAINMENT AT SOUTH PARIS.

"The Little Minstrels" Made The Hit of The Evening.

Repeated at Good Cheer Hall Later.

There was a large attendance at the entertainment given in New Hall Monday night for the benefit of the organ fund of the Universalist church. The first part of the entertainment consisted of moving pictures and illustrated songs by Miss Lona Noble and Mr. Fred Moore. While they were making changes for the next part of the program the Swastika Orchestra played several selections and received hearty encores. They never played better. Following this was a song entitled "Whisper and I Shall Hear," by Mr. C. H. Kinney with a violin obligato by Miss Grace Deau. This was finely rendered and it was necessary to respond to an encore. Then came the principal attraction of the evening, "The Little Minstrels" with the following program:

Opening Overture, Bijou Medley, Entire Company
Circle Song, Childhood, Eva Andrews
End Song, It Looks Like a Big Night Tonight, Ralph Andrews
Circle Song, Somewhere There is Someone I Would Like to Know, Doris Culbert
End Song, Honey Dat I Love so Well, Raymond Penfold
Circle Song, Billy Dear, Marie Newton
Tambourine Solo, Welsh Air, from The Men of Harlech, Raymond Penfold
Grand Finale, Patrie Mary, Entire Company

OXFORD UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

Holds Annual Fall Session at West Paris.

Excellent Attendance. Fine Meetings.

For the first time since the local Universalist church was built, the County Association was welcomed with its portals on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 28th and 29th. The first morning session was called to order by President J. H. Barrows of Bethel who had the meetings of the association in charge. Prayer was offered by Rev. M. C. Ward. In fitting words and cordial spirit the association and visiting friends were welcomed to the church, parish and town by Dr. F. E. Wheeler of West Paris.

Response was made by J. H. Barrows.

Following this, committees were appointed and reports read by the officers. At 11:30 Rev. Olaf Tansburg spoke on the "Status of the Church" in a most interesting manner. He spoke of the resources and achievements of the Universalist church and of the present trend of thought both in that church and with modern denominations.

Dinner and supper were served by the Good Will Society in the basement of the church.

At 2:00 o'clock a good audience was assembled for the Praise Service led by Rev. H. A. Markley.

At 8:30 Mr. Geo. E. Fogg a member of the church of the Messiah at Portland gave an address on "The Layman's Contribution and Compensation" which was listened to with marked interest and attention. He referred to religious and churches instituted and maintained by the church laymen, and in speaking of today put especial emphasis upon the value of the men's clubs which are proving so useful and helpful.

$15,000 FIRE AT RUMFORD

Early Monday Morning, Two Congress Street Blocks Damaged.

Fire Started in Basement of Spiller's Restaurant.

At about 4:30 Monday morning the fire department was called out for a fire in the building known as the Lebreque block on Congress St. The fire was well under way when discovered and the occupants had no more than time to get out of the building than a sheet of flame poured into the street. The fire soon spread to the adjoining block the lower part of which was occupied by the store of Solomon Steinfeld and the family of Louis Cohen lived on the second floor.

These buildings have been gutted by fire several times before. Both blocks are owned by M. W. Sanders. The one occupied by Mr. Spiller and run as a boarding house will be a total loss while the other is damaged heavily. The buildings were together insured for 10,500. Mr. Steinfeld carried an insurance of $3,000 on his stock of goods and Mr. Spiller $700. Mr. Cohen had no insurance and not a thing was saved. The buildings next to the ones burned are owned by Mr. Allen and E. W. Howe. They were slightly damaged but the loss is covered by insurance.

The night was very cold and the fire an extremely hard one to fight. Had it not been for the fine work of the fire department there would have been a conflagration. That section of the street has all wooden buildings and being closely together it is an easy matter for the fire to spread from one to another. Much credit is due Officers Roach and Brooks who were present through the burning of the building and lent valuable assistance to the firemen.

The exact origin of the fire is not known but it is thought that it started around the furnace in the basement of the Lebreque block. The fire was a stubborn one and although the alarm was sounded at 4:30 it was nine o'clock before the "all out" was blown in. The fire broke out again about noon but was soon extinguished.

SENACA CLUB

Entertained at South Paris.

The Seneca Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Wirt Stanley by Mrs. Stanley and Miss Maude Douglas at its regular meeting Monday night. After the literary program had been carried out the members of the club were ushered into the dining room to partake of a partridge dinner. Elaborate refreshments are the order of the club but it is safe to say that a more appetizing menu was never prepared for them. The room was completely covered with evergreen and autumn leaves. In the midst of the green which also hid from view the sideboard was a large stuffed owl, a handsome specimen; and in the center of this beautifully arranged table a large hawk with wings spread. The guests were obliged to display considerable ability in guessing to find their proper places at the table and when once seated they found at every place a string of green baby ribbon which ran to the center of the table and to which was attached a number, the one drawing the right number to receive a prize. While your correspondent was allowed the privilege of guessing on the good things which were to appease their hunger, he lacks words to describe them to you and as any account he might attempt to make would be incomplete and unsatisfactory, will only say that everything needed for a first class dinner was in waiting and ready to be served in an up-to-date manner.

RUMFORD COURT NEWS.

In the Rumford Municipal court last Saturday, James Morrison was brought on the charge of search and seizure. He was fined $100 and costs and appealed. Hugh McKinnon who was involved in the same case was fined $100 and costs and appealed.

ABOUT THAT TRIP TO WASHINGTON, D. C.

An Opportunity to Attend Taft's Inauguration.

Several Will Go as Guests of The Citizen-- The Plan Explained.

Where is the person who does not like to travel, and where is the one who hasn't a desire to visit our national capital?

In two recent issues of the Citizen we referred to an opportunity for several people to earn a trip to Washington. This brought forth various inquiries and an explanation of the method is due from us, and we will give it as follows:

The proprietor of the Citizen is one of those men who likes to travel, and when traveling, he likes to be accompanied by a nice little party of congenial people. If conditions are such to permit his getting away at that time he purposes to accompany a party to the President's inauguration, going a few days in advance of the event and returning shortly after.

In order that he may be accompanied by those of his liking, such as are keenly alive, are in the world to enjoy it to the fullest extent possible, and are willing to exert themselves a bit in order that they may do so, he is offering an opportunity for a few Oxford County people to join him at his expense.

In a sense the proposition involves a contest, but not a contest in which all work and but one wins while all the others lose, but rather a contest in which all who work win.

We are today publishing Oxford County's leading paper. The only one, it must be admitted by the other publishers, which can be called a strictly Oxford County paper, the only one which represents the entire county and which has a circulation in every nook and corner of the county. We are constantly growing in prestige and influence, and while we have a nice circulation throughout the county, we desire to add at least 500 new names before March 1st.

RUMFORD'S EFFICIENT FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Up-to-Date Facilities For Fighting Fire.

There are probably but very few people in the town of Rumford who really know what has been done with the money appropriated during the past year in order that the village may have a more efficient fire department and the homes of the many residents be protected in case of fire. In order that the inhabitants of the town may know what has been done the Citizen man has through the courtesy of Chief F. B. Carroll gained a few facts which may prove of interest to our many readers.

Chief Carroll has recently begun fire tests to see how soon the horses and men could get to a certain hydrant and have the hose attached and a stream of water running. At a test one evening recently the horses were in the stalls when the alarm was sounded and in just a minute and a half from that time the hose wagon was out, the hose attached to the hydrant on the corner near the postoffice and the water turned on.

It would be interesting to anyone who has not yet visited the home of the fire department to do so and there see just what a modern equipment the village possesses. On the ground floor of the building is kept the fire fighting apparatus together with the horses etc. An automatic alarm system has recently been installed which enables the driver to get the team on to the street much quicker than formerly.

At the first blast of the fire alarm two large gongs are sounded in the building one in the drivers' room and the other in the engine room.

SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT AT BETHEL.

The ladies of the Congregational Church had advertised a supper and entertainment for last Thursday night and at the appointed hour every place was filled at the tables and an excellent supper was enjoyed by all.

The Halloween entertainment given under the accomplished supervision was of course a delightful success. It was the first—we hope by no means the last—opportunity we have had of hearing Miss Bessie Merrill, whose cleverly executed piano solos gave real pleasure.

Mrs. Wright sang, as always, most artistically and was very enthusiastically received.

The piquant words, the cleverly adapted music, the effective acting and attractive costumes of the gay young group of girls combined to make the bright little operetta a most enjoyable thing.

The blond fairness of the Queen of the Bevels (Miss Ethel Waterbury, who wrote the words) in beautiful costume of blue and silver was enhanced by the brunette coloring of the Maidens who surrounded her and the parting of the curtains showed a very striking picture.

Miss Florence Mercer sang a Scotch song in a particularly sparkling vivacious manner and Miss Ola Hutchins added to her pleasing rendition of two songs the charm of her well known dramatic ability and the Gypsy Song of Miss Agnes Hutchins won her most hearty applause. Miss Ida Littlehale and Ada Everett were very handsome maidens in waiting and Misses Clara Lowe, Nellie Mercer and Helen Spencer all sustained their parts admirably.

Most careful training was shown in every part combined with artistic conception.

The evening adds yet another to the long list of benefits for which we are indebted to Mrs. Gehring's generosity and public spirit.

We trace him through the bustling throng.
We find him at the play:

At breakfast, bath or ball:
We meet the wisest here on earth—
The man who "knows it all."

We mark him by his lofty air,
And eke his lofty voice.
To him the ventriloquist bows,
To him the fortune teller bows,

He should occasion call,
If it condescended to contradict,

THE FERTILITY OF EGGS.

Conditions Which Go to Affect the Vitality.

Officials of the department of agriculture have been collecting data regarding the factors which affect the fertility of eggs, the question having been carefully studied at a number of experiment stations in the United States and elsewhere.

Too warm quarters for laying stocks and overfeeding are commonly believed to exercise an unfavorable influence on egg fertility as well as does a cold season. The way eggs are handled or stored is also believed to affect the proportion which will hatch, as will also the conditions under which incubation occurs.

The vigor and character of the parent stock and the length of time the male bird has been with the flock are also important questions with respect to egg fertility. At the outset it should be pointed out that fertility and "hatchability" are not necessarily identical.

An egg may be fertile and still the germ does not have sufficient vitality to produce a healthy chick under the ordinary conditions of incubation. It is a series of incubator experiments at the Rhode Island station, of 5,677 eggs tested, 33 per cent. were found to be fertile, while only 46 per cent. of the fertile eggs, or 38.6 per cent. of the total number of eggs, hatched under the conditions of the tests.

The various observations made, while not entirely conclusive, indicate that in order to secure fertile eggs, which will hatch, the laying stock must not be kept in very warm quarters or overfed; the males must be kept with the hens continuously and that only eggs should be used which are produced after the male has been with the hens several days.

Only the fowls from very vigorous parent stock and those known to produce a high percentage of fertile eggs (hens vary widely in this respect) should be used; the hens should be allowed a rest after each laying period, while the eggs should be handled carefully, not subjected to extremes of temperature in storage and used only when comparatively fresh.

SCALY LEGS IN FOWLS.

Treatment Which Should Be Given the Afflicted Hens.

A remedy for scaly legs in fowls is recommended by Farmers' Voice. This is caused by a parasite not unlike that of mange of the cat and dog. It is rather contagious, but does not spread rapidly. It is most frequent in old fowls and more conspicuous in the heavy breeds, as the Asiatics.

These scales, if allowed to continue unchecked, will grow to be large, unsightly knots, and eventually may cause the fowls to go lame.

We are not troubled with this malady, but we once brought some new birds to the farm that had a slight attack, and a perfect cure was effected by using this treatment: Coal oil, one part to four parts lard. Apply once daily with a small cloth for a week.

Kerosene alone is applied with good results, but this is more harsh than is necessary. A stock solution of kerosene emulsion, if at hand, gives most excellent results if thoroughly applied, and a few applications usually effect a cure.

For thorough work, the poultry houses should be perfectly cleaned and disinfected. It is also an excellent idea to apply coal oil liberally to the roost perches.

PEN FOR SMALL CHICKENS.

Easy Way of Protecting the Little Fellows from Old Hens.

Here is the drawing of a rather unique pen for feeding young chickens, and at the same time preventing the old ones from "butting" in and getting the bulk of the feed. The correspondent of Prairie Farmer says that he selected a convenient place near a picket fence and inclosed an area about four feet square by driving pickets into the ground for a few inches. Around the top of the stakes he wove a light wire, as shown in the illustration. He removed one picket before taking the picture, so as to show how the wire was interwoven, and how easily one picket may be removed if desired.

This sort of a pen is also used to hold the turkey hen with poult providing it is not desirable to give her liberty, which is often the case during the early part of the season.

Morning Feed.

Where poultry have the run of the fields, the morning feed is of far less importance than where the fowls are confined. If they are kept up during most of the day, a soft feed of mash is good. This may be made of middlings and corn meal or other like material and can be prepared over night.

The mode of preparing is simple. Merely put boiling water in the mixture and cover it. The heat will have cooked it into a pudding by morning. There are many people that are opposed to giving soft feed to fowls, but the writer has always found it a help in keeping off indigestion.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers
as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Editor's Note.—It is our desire to make this department one of the most interesting and valuable features of the whole paper. To this end we ask the assistance of our readers. Choice verse and gems of thought will be gladly received. Here are our thanks for anything that our friends have sent or may send.

The Vanished Flocks.
Up in the garret's dusky gloom,
Under the rafters, cobwebbed, gray,
Quiet and strange is the old handloom,
Shut from the busy world away.

Once where the brake and fern grow wild,
And the gray rocks break through
New England sod,
A hundred flocks climbed the rugged slopes,
Waving now with the goldenrod.

Food and raiment alike they gave To the dwellers then in the farmhouse old;
And peace and contentment reigned within,
When the flock was safe in the winter fold.

Warm is the sun on the pasture lands,
Bunny and smiling still they lie;
But where are the flocks that climbed the hill,
Under the blue of the summer sky?

Baskets and brake and goldenrod,
Riot over the rough, gray rocks,
Field and fold and the old hand-loom.
They are waiting yet for the vanished flocks.

From September Farm Journal.

Men and women don't need to swing clubs to threaten home concord. The husband, armed with a snarl, and the wife who carries a warlike tongue, are just as well equipped for death-dealing battle, as though they pointed each other with base ball bats. Ber-eam and nagging are to the atmosphere of love what sand-floes and fleas are to summer weather. Who would not prefer an occasional brush with a roaring Jove bug, to the eternal torment of a flea you can't catch?

Woman's character has been likened to a postage stamp—one black mark ruins it. Man's like a treasury note—no matter how many stains, it still passes at par. This double standard established by society is not just, but it is recognized the civilized world over.

The married life, though entered over so well, and with all proper preparation, must be lived well or it will not be useful or happy. Married life will not go itself, or if it does it will not keep the track. It will turn off at every switch and fly off at every turn or impediment. It needs a couple of good conductors who understand the engin-ing of life. Good watch must be kept for breakers ahead. The first must be kept up by a constant addition of the fuel of affection. The boilers must be kept full and the machinery in order, and all hands at their posts, else there will be a smashing up, or life will go beehiving or jelling along, wearing and tearing, breaking and bruising, leaving some heads and hearts to get well the best way they can. It requires skill, patience, and judgment to lead this life well, and these must be tempered with forbearance, charity and integrity.

How many hungry hearts there are in the world, hungering for recognition, for a word of praise! The hungriest heart in the world is an ungrateful woman whose husband never gives her a word of praise or recognition for a sacrifice made in his behalf.
Love may be there in his heart for her, love deep and abiding, and should death claim her, the fountain of his heart would be broken up and he would realize what he had lost, and cover her grave with roses, which, had they been presented a single one at a time with a little of the tenderness he now shows, her pathway would have been brighter and in her life a ray of sunshine, not that her husband were dissatisfied, but by a knowledge indisputable, that her efforts were appreciated. A hungry heart, which is destined never to be fed, is one of the saddest spectacles ever witnessed in this world of ours. If you have a word at praise to bestow on your wife—if it be dear, bestow it. Do not wait until she is dead, and be forced through blinding tears to tell your heart in the world, that she has lived a dead life by stifling thoughts and keeping back words that would have brought a flush of pleasure to her cheeks, and so she is, and not her heart in dancing with a pleasure only known to those who have had their hungry hearts fed by words of praise and recognition.

Young Men and Marriage.
A young man meets a pretty face in the ball room, falls in love with it, courts it, marries it, goes to housekeeping with it and boasts of having a home with a wife to grace it. The chances are nine to ten that he has nothing. He has been "taken in and done for!" Her pretty face gets to be an old story, or becomes faded or fractured or frilled, and as the face was all he wanted, all he paid attention to, all he set up with, all he bargained for, all he swore to love, honor and protect, he gets sick of his trade, knows of a dozen pretty faces he likes better, gives up staying at home evenings, consoling himself with elegant politics and looks upon his home as a very indifferent boarding house.

Another young man becomes enamored of a "fortune." He waits upon it to parties, dances a polka with it, exchanges "billet doux" with it, pops the question with it, gets accepted by it, takes it to the parson, weds it, calls it "wife," carries it home, sets up an establishment with it, introduces it to his friends and says he too is married and has a home. It is false. He is not married; he has no home. And he soon finds it out. He is in the wrong box, but it is too late to get out of it; he might as well try to get out of his coffin. His friends congratulate him and he has to grin and bear it.

If a young man would escape these and consequences, let him shun the rocks upon which so many have been shipwrecked. Let him disregard wholly all considerations of wealth, beauty, external accomplishments, fashion, connections in society, and every other mere selfish and unworthy end and look into the mind and heart of the woman he thinks of marrying.
If he cannot love her for herself alone —that is for all that goes to make up her character as a woman—let him disregard every external inducement, and shun a marriage with her as the greatest evil to which he could be subjected. And if he has in him a spark of virtuous feeling—if he has one unselfish and generous emotion—he will shun such a marriage for the woman's sake also, for it would be sacrificing her happiness as well as his own.

Every member of a community and especially every parent should take a deep interest in the public school. It is not enough to pay your school tax without complaining, or to know that the teachers are qualified, nor is it enough to keep your children in school regularly. If you are really interested in the subject as you should be, you should visit the school regularly and persistently. Few people have any idea what an incentive it is to both teacher and scholar to know that parents and outsiders are taking a lively interest in their work. We believe the "little folks" at school appreciate much interest more perhaps than the larger ones. Still the effort is not lost on any of them, and we hope every parent will take a hint from this and please the public school on their visiting list.

Poverty is uncomfortable, but also raises out of ten, the best thing that can happen to a young man is to be forced overboard and compelled to sink or swim for himself.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Dr. H. B.
Caton's Care. Send for circular free.

NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS

NORWAY.

Myron H. Watson, trombone soloist, joined La Barr Bros. Minstrels, but cancelled the engagement before the company left town.

The Pythian Sisters have their ball next Tuesday evening, Nov. 11 in the Opera House. Stearns orchestra of five pieces will furnish music. A grand good time is assured.

John Hayes and family will leave town shortly. Mr. Hayes has bought out a bakery in Littleton, N. H. so will give up his position in the Paris Bakery and go into business again for himself. John is certainly an expert in this line so will rapidly work up a large patronage in the new territory.

Chas. H. Adams and Geo. Locke on Main St. have their new water system installed. The pure water comes from a well on the side of Pike Hill and is free from contamination. They have laid three quarters of a mile of one inch lead pipe with a total weight of 2,500 lbs. and have a fall of one hundred and twenty feet. Others seeing their good work may go and do likewise next spring, and thus secure a valuable article under good pressure in case of another siege with a decrepit public service.

Geneva Barker found twenty-three not such a bad number after all at the moving picture entertainment in the Opera house last Saturday evening. The management offered two dollars and fifty cents in gold to the person holding the dreadful number and Miss Barker secured the gold piece. The show drew a large crowd anxious for the coveted prize. The films were excellent, especially the "Trip across the Atlantic." Mr. Fred Moore sang "We've been chums for fifty years" and Miss Noble rendered "Good Bye Glory." These entertainments are here to stay and are furnished by Messrs. Robbins and Hodgdon, who have the business down to a science.

Mrs. H. L. Bartlett entertained her Congregational Sunday school class at her house Friday evening. They enjoyed the usual Halloween customs besides experimenting with novelties of a late date. A strong northwest wind spoiled the lantern parade but the youngsters tramped about the streets even if the candles wouldn't stay lighted. The indoor program was a complete success and will remain a pleasant memory for many years. The scholars present were Donald Andrews, Phineas Barnes, Howard Chick, Philip Foss, Howard Evis, Francis Chandler, Paul Brooks, Paul Hosmer, Guy Harriman and Archie Swift.

The first social assembly was held in U. A. R. Hall last Friday evening under the auspices of Myrtle Lodge, No. 101, A. O. U. W. The dance was largely attended and a good time resulted. Myrtle Orchestra furnished the music.

The village schools were closed Thursday and Friday while the teachers attended the State Teachers' Association at Portland.

Basket ball held full sway on the High School grounds until the cold wave appeared. A fast town team played every afternoon with the school representatives and gave fairly good exhibitions.

LEFT ON HER DOORSTEP FOR THIS MOTHER

Mrs. A. G. Tason, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested. My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all run down and in a very delicate condition. This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take. "Just the thing," said I, "for my little daughter," and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily. "I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial." VINOL is sold in Bethel by W. H. Bosseman, Druggist.

An Apt Reply.

Senator LaFollette, discussing the currency bill, said of a certain peasant: "That needs delicate handling. It is like the position of the young man on his honeymoon. This young man's honeymoon was regular because, while still in mourning, he had married his deceased wife's sister. A friend of his, a chap he had not seen for years, accosted him on the honeymoon in a Niagara restaurant. The friend, after being introduced to the bride, said sympathetically: "But who are you in mourning for, old man?" "For my sister-in-law," was the delicate reply."

SOUTH PARIS.

On Friday evening of last week the Seneca Club observed gentlemen's night. G. A. R. Hall was changed almost beyond recognition by the decorations appropriate to the occasion, which included black cats and witches, jack-o'-lanterns, corn stalks, apples and other vegetables, and after reading the above it is hardly necessary to say that the affair was in the form of a Halloween party. All the old fads appropriate to the occasion and many new ones were tried and all entered into the games with a great deal of spirit. It is needless to say that the evening afforded much amusement. Whist, Elnech and other games, also dancing with music by Swinstika Orchestra made the evening pass all too quickly. The refreshments were also in keeping with the season and consisted of sandwiches, coffee, doughnuts, pumpkin pie and squash pie, Indian pudding, corn balls and nuts and fruit served in pumpkin baskets. Last but not least a punch bowl filled with sweet cider. It was certainly a very pleasant affair and much enjoyed by all.

In the spelling contest held at the Bijou Theatre, Wednesday of last week the prize was awarded to Fred Graves. The contest was confined to children in the lower grades of the village schools.

A special train will leave South Paris Saturday evening at 6:30 to convey Mt. Meza Lodge of Odd Fellows to West Paris for their visit.

Herman Wilson has felled from Mrs. Louisa Briggs the pine grove in the rear of his residence on Pleasant St. He has cleared the grove of all underbrush, trimmed off all the lower branches of the trees, and greatly improved the looks of the place in other ways, as a result he has a fine looking grove of young pine trees.

Charles Butt left the first of the week on a trip to Chicago and the West.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Powers of Hallowell spent Saturday and Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Winslow C. Thayer. Their son, Master Lewis also came with them and will remain for a visit of some length.

As was expected there was a large delegation from here that attended the Bates Maine football game at Lewiston Saturday, but doubtless the rather disagreeable weather prevented many from going. Wm. J. Wheeler, Alton C. Wheeler, Percival Hathaway and Dr. Stewart rapped themselves up in fur overcoats and buffaloes and took the trip in Foggy's automobile.

There will be a sale of useful and fancy articles at the Methodist church vestry, Thursday afternoon and evening from going. Wm. J. Wheeler, Alton C. Wheeler, Percival Hathaway and Dr. Stewart rapped themselves up in fur overcoats and buffaloes and took the trip in Foggy's automobile.

Supt. of Schools, Albert D. Park and wife and nearly all the teachers in town attended the Maine Teachers' Association at Portland, Thursday and Friday of last week. It is hardly necessary to say that scholars thoroughly enjoyed the vacation which the teachers' absence made it possible for them to obtain.

Mrs. Nelson Lapham of West Paris called on relatives and friends in this part of the town Monday.

Hamilton Lodge, K. of P. will work the rank of Knight at its meeting Friday evening. Refreshments will be served after the work.

Weather of all kinds is now being served to us. The sudden changes are no doubt the cause of so much sickness which we hear spoke of in this vicinity.

Rev. J. H. Little and a good number of Universalists attended the installation of Rev. Merrill C. Ward as pastor of the Norway Universalist church, Thursday evening.

Three quarts and a half of liquor were seized from the rooms occupied by Dexter Lowell in Maxim block Friday night by Sheriff Farrar. The next day before Trial Justice, Charles J. Whitman, Lowell was fined $100 and costs on the charge of maintaining a nuisance. He appealed and furnished bonds. There is another place in the village where it is common talk that liquor is being disposed of in considerable quantities. The people are badly stirred up by this action and are hoping that the offenders will soon get their just deserts.

MEMORIES.

I am sitting in the gloaming,
I am dreaming of the past,
Of those happy childhood hours
That speed away so fast.

The visions of my mother,
As we stood around her knee
And listened to her teaching
Have all come back to me.

I can almost see that sunny smile
That greeted us each day,
As we did our little tasks
And then went off to play.

And what a kind friend she was to us,
When in our youthful days,
Watching so patiently over us,
And chiding our eering ways.

Then when we were older grown
And the cares of life were ours,
She came like a bright angel,
To soothe our troubled hours.

Ever the same faithful friend,
In darkness or in light,
With her cheering words of comfort,
That made everything as bright.

When she was called to leave us,
Our hearts were filled with sorrow
For her home so far away,
And we could only pray.

That God in his mercy would prepare us,
For that glorious home above,
Where we could join our mother
In the eternal realms of love.

Dearest mother, we shall miss thee,
All through the coming years,
But by faith in heaven we see thee,
A shining angel through our tears.

TO START BALLOON SERVICE FROM BOSTON TO N. Y.

Boston, Oct. 10.—The giving of a contract for a dirigible balloon to cost around $7,000 to Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, inventor and builder of the dirigible balloon recently sold to the United States Government, today marks the first and most important step taken by the Aerial Navigation Company of which Charles J. Glidden is the leading spirit, since the company was incorporated some months ago for the purpose of operating an aerial freight and passenger line to New York.

Mr. Glidden and associates were in conference today with Captain Baldwin, going over the preliminary plans for the building and operating of the dirigibles.

While the line will eventually be extended from Boston through South Framingham, Worcester, Brookfield, Springfield and other points to New York and to Albany at present it is planned to build one dirigible to operate between Boston and a station in South Framingham, additional stations and dirigibles to be erected later, step by step, on the route to New York.

The first dirigible is expected to be ready for the opening of the line in May next.

"No, sir," said the motorist, "the motor is utterly impracticable."

"Do you speak as a scientist?" asked the other.

"No, sir. As a man of experience. Suppose your engine breaks or your petrol gives out and leaves you stuck away up in a cloud bank, how are you going to get a team of horses to pull you out?"

THE ELECTION.

The election is over and it is quite safe to say that the result is practically what all expected. Amid the excitement of any national campaign there are always figures, estimates and claims made by the contending parties which justify hopes on the part of the supporters of the parties and election returns are always awaited with interest and more or less of hope and eagerness by all. This year has been no exception. The two leading candidates have put up a strenuous campaign. Each claimed the election and yet there must have been, in fact was, a feeling in the minds of all that Taft would win a sweeping victory.

Bryan rested his hopes largely in the labor vote which Gompers had promised to deliver. There was a serious opinion abroad that Gompers could not deliver the goods and the results show that these feelings were well founded.

Other crumbs of comfort to Bryan lay in the fact that hard times have usually been followed by a change of administration.

Bryan is a remarkable man, in many ways a great man, a man whose person at once draws multitudes to him, but as a vote getter it must be conceded by his followers, he is a failure. Along with his personal magnetism goes that apparent lack of diplomacy and executive ability which cuts at the confidence of the people of his own party and produces a cross current which cannot be stilled. Strong enough to divide his party, and as with the strong grip of the lion's paw, draw to him and held at least for twelve long years the controlling influence of that party, and yet not great enough to command the confidence and support of an active minority, he has destined his party to defeat since it became a victim of his power and it will know a like fate until released from his grasp.

If he has read the election returns, and he doubtless has, he has observed that he has run behind the Democratic state tickets throughout the country, which fact should forcibly remind him that he was not born to be president and induce him to cease running.

WOMAN'S DRESS—ITS RELATION TO HUMAN PROGRESS.

Just following the presidential election, and when the interest in the outcome is still paramount in the public mind, is not a good time to engage the serious attention of our readers in the discussion of so trivial an affair as the relation of dress to the progress of the welfare of the country. It certainly was not an issue in the late campaign, and is not likely to supersede consideration of the tariff and trust questions in Congress this winter—yet it is a matter of some importance, and has a bearing as well as humorous relation to the progress of the human race.

The fanciful style of woman's dress has always been a subject for just serious matters can be turned into just very easily—and it is nearly impossible to consider the subject—outside a dressmaker's work room, without introducing the comical features.

But to the woman—be she customer or dressmaker—there is nothing funny about the affair. It engages the most serious attention, and the amount of brain energy devoted to the decking out of the female form, would, if devoted to the various problems of government, equip womanhood with power to control both society and government.

It is alleged that woman follows the instincts of her nature in dressing herself in a manner that will attract the attention of all men and excite the special interest of some one man.

In the animal creation, as distinct from humankind the females are not endowed with the outward elements of attraction—the males have that.

We do not think nature endowed the human female with the desire to overturn the rules that govern the sex in the animal creation.

How then has fanciful dress come to be a ruling passion with women? In a wild state the female animal did not require the protection of the males—she could fight her own battles, and defend her young, perhaps, better than the male could. In fact the male animal was the "dress parade" part of the combination. He strutted and sought to attract the female by his handsome appearance. In the wild state the male never attacks or injures the female. She has nothing to fear from him.

Among civilized humans, this is not true. Woman finds her sex, at times, dependent upon man for nearly everything, including protection against man.

This condition forced woman early in human history to curry favor, and once the effort to attract the protection of man was begun, the gateway to all the follies of style in woman's attire was opened; and it has never been shut, but has been raised and raised, and in some seasons apparently the gate and the abutments have been taken away altogether and floods of folly have inundated the ladies' tailoring shops. It was satisfactory to the ruling class of men—who in olden times were chiefly exploiters of the people—to have the female mind spending its energy in devising fanciful personal decorations. Thus engaged woman was not bothering about the way governments were conducted, and it was easy for men to control things, and set up the title of "lords of creation."

The scheme worked well, and for ages woman has been content to play her part, as force of circumstances and crafty man obliged her to. In the proportion that woman has grown wiser, and more independent, the introduction of some wrecking and health wrecking devices in dress have followed.

This is the way the exploiters hope to stifle the growing independence of woman. Women are left with but little capacity for other things after exhausting their energies upon the styles and fashions.

The men—of the exploited class—have been kept humble from the "plague" of independence and self thinking by various devices. Amusements, sports, elaborate ceremonies and wars have been the chief means by which they have been controlled, and their brain force used up. Of late the species has shown some signs of breaking away and becoming active forces in the governments of the world.

Incidentally with those symptoms there occurred well defined efforts to belaud the awakening mind—and as a last resort—think of it men of Oxford—competition between the sexes in fanciful dress has been introduced, and man—fool that he is—has appeared with a fancifully constructed hat, with a feather attachment. Some have so far become victims that they have laced themselves in corsets. We think this is the final effort to quell the rising spirit of inquiry with the "whys and wherefores." It is the last move of the exploiters. In the same proportion that men assume fanciful and ridiculous attire, women will effect plain styles, and that will leave her mind free to think of other problems and we think she will become the ruling intellectual force in the world. And when she does become so, we believe the rule of the exploiters will speedily come to an end.

There will be no more kings, emperors, czars, dukes or lords. Those who are disposed to treat this subject lightly, are entitled to say that there will be a reign of queens, empresses, duchesses, and other styles of female tyrants, but whatever happens we think we have proved that dress has an intimate relation to human progress. Readers of this paper are entitled to their own thoughts and to space in it to have their ideas printed.

HONORED RESIDENT OF GIL-HEAD PASSES AWAY.

Ephraim Wight.

Death has again entered our midst, and removed one of our most respected townsmen in the person of Mr. Ephraim Wight, who passed away last Wednesday evening, Oct. 28th.

Mr. Wight was born on May 4, 1839 in Oxford, the son of Ephraim and Rebecca Wight. He lived in Oxford until 1861, when he married Fannie Sawyer Barlow, and went to Greenwood. In 1861 he moved to Gardiner, N. H., and engaged extensively in the lumbering business and after his removal to Oxford in 1876 he continued this occupation in connection with his farming, until failing health compelled him to leave such care for those young ones.

The deceased leaves three sons, Eli phraim B. of Lynn, Mass., whom he visited less than two weeks ago, Osmun C. of Greene, Me., and A. Dana, both of whom helped to care for him in his last illness. Besides these he leaves ten grandchildren, five great grandchildren and a host of neighbors and friends.

"Uncle Ephraim," as he was familiarly called, was a member of Co. L, 1st Heavy Artillery, N. H. Volunteers and served in the army of the Potomac until his honorable discharge in June 1862. Many were the stories of these times he was ever ready to retell for the benefit of those to whom those days seem like "a tale that is told."

The funeral occurred at his late home last Saturday, conducted by Rev. Henry Farrar, a lifelong friend, and Rev. William Clegg, the resident pastor. After the singing of favorite hymns by a quartet, Mr. Wight was laid to rest amid beautiful flowers, which ever speak words of comfort to sorrowing friends. While we know that he doth all things well, and can not but mark the vacancy with sorrow, let us strive, with Divine aid, to live such lives that after our departure, our friends may say of us, as we do of him, "Truly a kind neighbor, faithful friend and loving father has gone from among us."

Pillow "Father," Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wight, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wight, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wight, Sheriff of Wheat, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hicks, Carnations, Fred, Edna and Philip Wight, Earl A. Witham, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Scribner, F. M. Cullen, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Peabody, Chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Cullen, Bouquet, Miss Alma Heath, Bouquet, Vivian Dingley.

A FRIEND.

THE CALL OF THE W. R. O.
BETHEL.

Concerning the supper and sale at the Grange Hall on Nov. 11th by the Ladies' Relief Corps, the following tells the story.

We come not with trumpet or drum
To lure you from pleasures enjoyed Best at home,
But in a pacific, persuasive strain,
To invite you to sup with the Corps Again.

The colors we choose and will carry
All through
Are that of our flag—The Red,
White and Blue."

No call for weapons except a good will
To partake of our dainties and settle
The bill;
Then purchase the articles ready for sale
Ere they go out of fashion or prove flat and stale,
There prove you are loyal and constant and true,
By saluting our banner, "The Red,
White and Blue."

Then there's music awaiting you, sol-enn and grand,
As when "Marching Through Georgia" was heard in the land.
We are sure you'll enjoy these attractions all round Much better than "Testing on the Old Camp Ground."
And no "Barbara Fretchies" that ever grew.

Will be needed to guard our "Red,
White and Blue."

'Tis true, we are only a woman's band Yet for home and for country we promise to stand,
And when to the army our loved ones
have gone,
We'll work and we'll pray for them
'Till peace is won,
And give to them the honors that's ever their due For upholding our nation, with the "Red, White, and Blue."

Then come friends and neighbors, come,
one and all,
Where you'll find entertainment at Granger's Hall
On November the 11th in the afternoon,
Where the supper's at six which is none too soon.

For there's good things to follow in the evening too,
Mid the waving banners of "Red,
White and Blue."

Yes, "Holly 'round the flag" friends,
rally once again,
Female women with your children and then hearted men,
For "The Star Spangled Banner," still
the emblem of the free, Will insure our safety here, on the land or on the sea!
And the wife of John Reed if she's seeing what we do,
Will join in our cheers for "The Red,
White and Blue."

PROF. CROSBY'S SECOND LEC-TURE.

Ancient and Historic Castles of England was the subject of Prof. Crosby's second lecture at Gould's Academy last Wednesday evening and was even more interesting than the first. Prof. Crosby is a man of wide research who has traveled extensively, and his splendid collection of views adds much to the attractiveness of an otherwise intensely interesting address.

THE MAJECHARSA
CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Halloween Frolics at Gonya
Hall.

The young ladies of the Majecharsa Club "done the thing up brown" last Friday evening at Rumford when they entertained their gentlemen friends at a Halloween party in Gonya Hall. Invitations were extended to 20 of the young men of the town and fourteen attended the party. It was certainly the social event of the season thus far and Gonya Hall was never decorated so prettily before. As the gentlemen entered the building at the foot of the stairway they were met by a clown who handed out favors which were candy "Happy Hooligans." At the head of the stairs was stationed a ghostly looking personage who beckoned the guests to enter the hall. A strange looking sight greeted the men and it took considerable courage for them to enter and seek to fathom the mysteries before them. The only light in the place came from jack lanterns and a burning caldron, which was presided over by two witches dressed in long black gowns and pointed caps. The room was full of ghostly looking subjects who took the gentlemen by the arms and marched them about the hall to the sounds of wild strains of music. As they approached the caldron they were presented by the witches with cards on which were written the future of each one.

A few minutes later the ghosts disappeared from the hall and the young lady hostesses entered dressed in light evening dresses. The lights were turned on and the hall was found to be very elaborately decorated. Strings of miniature electric lights in different colors were hung from the chandeliers and fastened to the corners of the room. The walls were covered with witches mounted on brooms which were cut from bright colored paper and the table from which refreshments were served looked very inviting with its dishes made from large pumpkins. The "good things" for refreshment consisted of pumpkin pies, twisted doughnuts, made of molasses and covered with plenty of sugar, corn balls, molasses candy and sweet cider.

For the first game the guests were given slips of paper and directed to put down the names of the ladies whose silhouettes were fastened on the wall. There were nineteen of the profiles and it was more of a puzzle than might be imagined to distinguish the likenesses. For guessing the largest number, Lucian Blanchard was presented with first prize.

Other games followed and one which furnished a great deal of amusement was the one of pantomimes when the gentlemen were again obliged to guess the faces of the young ladies as they appeared in profile on a screen.

The affair was a great success and the gentlemen have found that the ladies of the Majecharsa club are admirable entertainers.

Among those present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Langley, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chadbourne, Mrs. Helen Lyon, Misses Louise

The children did finely, their jokes brought out many a hearty laugh at the expense of some of our poor old jagers. The local parody which was sung as an encore to Ralph Andrew's song also made a big hit. A quartet, known as the Bijou Quartet and composed of Messrs. Sessions, Robbins, Briggs and Kinney rendered a selection and responded to an encore. The solo then closed the evening's entertainment and brought out more good things. Miss Marie Newton a very sweet singer for one of her years, again appeared as soloist in the drill by the twelve young ladies. The program for the one follows.

RUMFORD'S EFFICIENT FIRE DEPARTMENT.

one down stairs, the horses are released from their stalls and light is turned on over the entire building. As soon as the alarm is struck around once the indicator shows the men from which box the alarm is sounded and enables them to set out without having to wait to count the blows from the whistle. As soon as the driver is on his seat he pulls a cord which throws open the door and the combination wagon is soon on its way to the fire.

The combination wagon which was purchased the first of the summer, was made by the Combination Ladder Co. of Providence, R. I. It carries 1000 feet of regulation fire hose, two ladders, one extension and one roof ladder, together with two pony extinguishers. It is supplied with two 30 gallon chemical tanks, to which are attached 240 feet of chemical hose. Runners are provided for winter use. It is seldom that one sees a finer pair of horses than those owned by the corporation and kept for use in time of fires. The horses were fresh from the West when bought by the village and much credit is due Mr. Wallace Butterfield for the way he has trained them to do the work required. The harness used when the horses are on fire duty are the Berry swing model, and the animals are no sooner under them than they are all equipped. The horses are worn all of the time.

The second floor of the Wigham has been thoroughly renovated and pleasant quarters are now provided for company No. 1. There are four nice sleeping rooms provided with single beds, a full equipped bath room and a large sitting room besides a private office for the chief, and in the rear a small room in which is kept the hay and grain. On this floor is also kept the storage batteries which are used in connection with the electrical apparatus. The rooms and hall are supplied with twin electric lights, one of which is lighted in each room at the sound of the fire whistle, so that the haste of the firemen is not prevented by searching for a light.

During the past year, four new alarm boxes have been added to the list, namely: No. 37 at the corner of Main Ave. and Spruce streets, No. 43, corner of Oxford Ave. and Waldo street, No. 62, corner of Essex Ave. and Pine street, and No. 64, corner of Stratford Ave. and Pine street. A private telephone line connects with the central fire station and the public is urged not to sound the alarm for chimney, grass or brush fires, but to call up the central station by telephone and the proper attention will be given it at once.

OXFORD UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION.

ful wherever organized, as they bring in outside men and forces. The layman's compensation may be partly in the solution of some of the problems which the church is trying to overcome.

This was followed by an address, "The Minister's Share," by Rev. C. R. Tenney. He said it was the duty of the minister to hold up the ideal to men and then hold the men up to the ideal; to this and he orders his life and ministry if he be a faithful shepherd. He closed by portraying Jesus Christ as the great ideal.

There were brief remarks by several present, after which the afternoon session closed.

In the evening the church was filled to listen to a sermon by Rev. Ralph E. Conner of Auburn from the text, Prov. 4:23, "Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." He spoke most impressively upon some of the most vital issues of the human heart and was listened to with the closest attention. Music was furnished by the local church choir and L. M. Irish played a trombone solo as a voluntary.

At the business session on Thursday morning the reports of Oxford County parishes showed live, active work in nearly all sections and good prosperity.

New officers were elected as follows: President, E. C. Park, Bethel. Vice President, Charles F. Ridlon, Norway.

Secretary, Rev. D. A. Ball, Mechanic Falls. Treasurer, Chas. A. Donney, Turner Center.

At 11:00 o'clock a deeply interesting address on "The Woman's Record and Plan" was made by Mrs. E. H. Chapin of Rockland. She explained the value of the Woman's Mission Circle and its help to the women; also its genuine help to the church as proven by experience. It is an education to the women and a potent factor in church work and life. She was given generous applause.

Over 75 of the Universalist people partook of a Harvest dinner as prepared by the ladies' Aid of the Methodist church.

At 1:30 Mr. E. C. Park of Bethel led a Praise service following this being an inspiring and helpful address by Rev. H. H. Hoyt, State Sup't. of churches. He mentioned the American pride in our country because of its history, traditions and institutions and that this should extend to home and church as well. As good citizens we should support, attend and extend the church and its influence and aid it with our interest and loyalty.

The final address was to have been by Rev. E. W. Webber of Livermore Falls but in his absence the program was filled by Rev. R. E. Conner who spoke on the "Value of the church in the community."

Thus closed one of the best Association meetings ever held in the County.

and those present unite in praise of its helpful spirit and value.

There was a large attendance, over 80 having registered from out of town and 30 were entertained over night, although there were places in the local parish for many more. The clergyman present beside the local pastor, Rev. Isabella S. Manduff were as follows: Rev. H. H. Hoyt, East Hiram; Rev. J. H. Little, South Paris; Rev. Merrill C. Ward, Norway; Rev. Ralph E. Conner, Auburn; Rev. Orlundburg, Berlin, N. H.; Rev. Charles R. Tenney, Auburn; Rev. H. A. Markley, Turner Center; Rev. D. A. Ball, Mechanic Falls; Rev. Luther P. McKinney, Bridgton.

CUT THIS OUT AND SAVE IT.

Says Many Persons Here Can be Made Happy Again.

Tells How Anyone Can Prepare Simple Home-Made Mixture.

There is so much rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice will be highly appreciated by those who suffer.

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Karger, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and tortuous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

RAINBOW PARTY IN HONOR OF MISS LUCY ATWOOD.

One of the finest social affairs of the season was given at the home of Mrs. H. L. Elliott on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Lucy Atwood, whose marriage to Mr. Harold Goddard will take place the last of the month. Mrs. Elliott was assisted in entertaining by Miss Mary Hegarty.

The party was nicely planned and was called a "rainbow party." The rooms were prettily decorated in the seven colors of the rainbow and a gorgeous rainbow was arched across one side of the room and disappeared under the head of the couch. While the guests were arriving a guessing game was played. When all were present each guest was told that they would find concealed in the room envelopes in which there were directions for some stunt they were to do. When Miss Atwood found the envelope giving her directions it told her to look in another place. No sooner was that found than she was directed to still another and another until she had been upstairs and down. At last the card directed her to look under the head of the couch. To her surprise there was at the end of the rainbow with its 'pot of gold,' a prettily gilded flower pot filled with bright pieces of money together with the following verse and the names of each of the young ladies present:

"After seeking, seeking, seeking Under chair and in the attic, In the cellar and the chambers, Go ye forth to seek where finding Is as certain as your life; Take thee hence unto the parlor At the foot of yonder rainbow And receive that which is waiting For your hand to call its own. Take it homeward to your kinsmen And discuss its entire value; And go hence and gladly purchase That which gives your heart most joy. And believe in this our token Of our deep felt inward sorrow Of the time, but seems tomorrow, When you, Dear Friend, must leave our presence."

To make your home in the outer world. We shall miss you, ever miss you, And we hope that this will remind you Of our warmest adoration; And we trust that in the future You will come to this, your homeland, And receive the loving welcome Of the friends that now are here."

Other games were enjoyed and later in the evening ice in fancy colors and assorted cakelets were served in the dining room. The party was a social success in every detail.

The ladies present included Mesdames C. G. Bisbee, C. E. Howe, E. M. McNulty, R. T. Parker, O. A. Pettengill, A. M. Hamblett, Misses Ella Ames, Louise Bryant, Anna Hassett, Elizabeth Pettengill, Louise Martin, Louise Kilder, Alice Lucas, Mabel McMenamin and Marguerite McKenzie.

WHAT GOD CAN DO.

I'm peacefully riding at anchor. This sunny, sunshiny day, Just on account of my Father, Who lives right over the way.

I have my cares and my troubles; But the dear Father knoweth best; All the strivings which are denied me, But I go to Jesus, and then, rest.

All the sorrows at night-time I tell Him, Not one must be left behind, Neither care nor worry can fret me, Because of Father, who lives there so kind.

Not always riding at anchor, However blest that may be; Sometimes rocking on snowy billows, With most death betwixt Him and me.

So I wait on this Father, O dear one; Perhaps you too, have sickness and pain, He will teach you the rest of patience, And He nows just what is the gain.

Onion Pie.

Peel and cut in dice enough onions to fill a pie tin that has been lined with good rich pastry, then dot with bits of butter and sprinkle salt and pepper to taste. Beat up an egg without separating and add enough sweet milk to cover the onions. You must use your own judgment, as some pie tins are smaller than others. Bake in a moderate oven about half an hour until done. Slice of fat pork on top do as well as butter.

Refreshing Salad.

Pineapple in any form makes one of the most delicious summer salads. Instead of cutting it in cubes, however, and serving it either alone or with celery, try combining the pineapple and orange. The latter gives an intangible flavor that is quite different from either of the fruits used singly.

Raw Lung.

When the lungs are sore and inflamed, the germs of pneumonia and consumption find lodgement and multiply. Foley's Honey and Tar kills the cough germs, cures the most obstinate rack-cough, heals the lungs, and prevents serious results. The genuine is in the yellow package.

The Man That Knew.

I had been told that I would find good summer board at a certain farm-house in Nassau county, L. I., and I was about setting out from the country railroad station to find the place, when I ran across a man that looked as if he could tell me all about it. When I asked if he knew Farmer Green he replied:

"Yes. Known him ever since he was a boy."

"Does he take summer boarders?"

"Yes."

"Got a comfortable place?"

"Foremost on the island."

"Doesn't he set a good table?"

"It couldn't be worse."

"I have been told that it was a bang-up place to vacate in for a couple of weeks."

"Better go anywhere else. His boarders leave after one meal."

"But do you really know Green?" I asked, thinking I might have made a mistake.

"Why, I'm the feller himself!" he replied.

"And yet you say that—that?"

"I say that the beds are so blessed nice and the fodder so darned good that I left the place myself this morning! So long."

SUMMER CARE OF FLOCK.

Things the Successful Raiser Will Be Sure to Remember.

In the first place the entire flock should be thoroughly dipped in one of the good commercial dips, which are both cheap and effective. I then find it profitable to separate the barren ewes and any that have lost their lambs, writes an Indiana farmer in Farm and Home. These I put on clover or blue grass pasture and feed corn, either shelled or on the cob.

I have had good results feeding them along with fattening hogs, thus saving an extra pasture. Handled rightly these ewes will be in fine shape for market by June 15, which time usually finds one of the best markets for the year.

For the ewes and lambs to be carried over two or three pastures should be provided, so that a change can be made every two or three weeks. I do not think a pasture can profitably be made large enough to run a flock of sheep the entire season, with best results, especially if it has been used for a number of years.

During hot weather the sheep will bunch closely in the shade and return to the same spot often during the day, thus getting such spots dusty and unfit for the sheep. By changing from one pasture to another we have fresh grass and fresh resting places, since these places have been disinfected by sun and rain.

I think it profitable to run other stock in these pastures beside the sheep, such as cows and calves, or yearling cattle. These animals keep down the rank grasses, and the sheep will thrive better on short grass. If blue grass or timothy becomes long and rank sheep will not eat it well and will lose in flesh. Such is not the case with clover or rape, however.

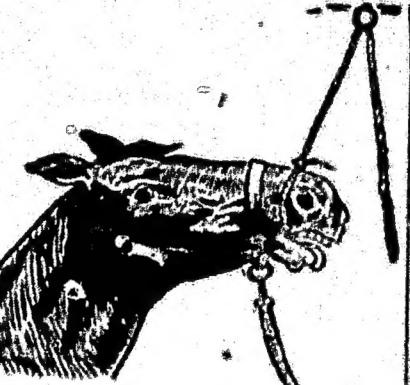

Free access to salt which is dampened with turpentine during the dry season is a good thing. The odor of the turpentine keeps the flies from their noses and heads and destroys some of the internal parasites.

I have found sheep to be the most profitable live stock that can be kept on the farm. Mutton can be produced in this locality at a lower cost per pound than beef, taking no account of the wool, which itself makes a nice profit. During the past few years the price has ranged from 28 to 34 cents per pound for medium wool.

DRENCHING A HORSE.

Method of Holding Him to Administer the Dose.

Make a loop in one end of a rope and put it around the upper jaw. Pass the other end of the rope over a sill or through a ring to get the head up.

Raising a Horse's Head.

This leaves the lower jaw and the lower part of the mouth free, says Prairie Farmer, so that the horse can swallow, which is the idea of the new method.

IS SHE DOING HER BEST?

Some Suggestions Regarding the Profit of Your Cow.

The man who is milking cows for the purpose of making money should remember that if he wants to know what his cows are doing all he needs to do is to use the Babcock test and the scales. But remember this: That the Babcock test and the scales tell what the cow is doing but not what she might do under improved care and with better feeding. Careful scientific investigations show that the percentage of fat in the milk cannot be changed materially by any system of feeding or care but the total quantity of fat produced can be increased very materially by improved care and better feeding. In other words, the total loss of milk can be increased, and that means the total amount of fat increased. Many a good cow does not have a fair chance to show what she can do. Several of our different experiment stations have purchased cows which were unprofitable under the conditions in which they found them, but which responded very quickly to improved feed and care. If you are not making the money you should out of your cows by all means get a Babcock test and a pair of scales and go to studying the individual cows. At the same time go to studying how to feed them better and give them better care. Improved cows are not much good without improved dairymen.

THE STOCK.

Constipation is the forerunner of all diseases and disorders in live stock. Keep the bowels open by feeding an abundance of green feed, or giving liberal doses of epsom salts or raw linseed oil.

Never let the pig go hungry if you want to make a 300-pound hog at the age of seven months. This does not mean that you should be continually stuffing it with corn, but allow it all the pasture it can eat and then add enough grain to balance the green feed.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church are receiving congratulations upon the great success of their Harvest dinner and supper held Oct. 29th at Centennial Hall. The tables were loaded with excellent food and the quality seemed to be appreciated as at least 275 people were fed. The sale of candy tables which were prettily trimmed in crepe paper was located on one side of the hall and were in charge of Mrs. E. D. Stillwell and Mrs. A. K. Shurtliff and nearly everything was sold. The hall was well filled in the evening at the free entertainment which was arranged by Mrs. Arthur K. Shurtliff. Program as follows:

Instrumental Music, Mrs. Shurtliff
Recitation, Karl Hayes
Singing, Ellsworth D. Curtis
Solo, Mrs. C. H. Bates
Tableau, The Garnered Harvest
Reading, Mr. Curtis
Instrumental music, Mrs. D. R. Ford
Reading, Mrs. C. L. Riddon
Solo, Mrs. C. H. Bates
Reading, Mr. Curtis
Book Drill, Mr. Curtis
By 8 School Girls, in charge of the teacher, Miss Price.
Music, Mrs. Ford
Three Tableaux, Good Fellowship; The Benediction; Good Night.

The affair was really the most successful of any held by the Aid as over $50 dollars was taken for dinner and supper and $42 was realized from the sale tables. It is expected the net proceeds will figure up to over $95. The Halloween party held last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Ellingwood was a very pleasant affair and was well attended, considering the unfavorable weather. There was a small admission and ice cream was sold, so several dollars was netted for the treasury of the Senior Y. P. C. U. Games were played about some of which were attacked the mystery of the Halloween season. Upon arrival the guests were shown the way by ghosts at the door and upon the stairway who pointed out the direction without a word. Later the visitors were initiated into the mystery chamber. Blindfolded they were led onto a carpet of crackling dry leaves, and some were thrust head foremost into a corner filled with dry rotting corn stalks. The effect was rather startling, and helped the uneasy impression. There were also other mysteries and after the company had played some social games they adjourned, feeling the time had been very happily spent.

The Universalist Good Will Society here set the date as Wed. Nov. 18 to which to hold their annual Fair and Chicken Pie supper. There will be an entertainment in the evening and all particulars will be announced. Committees have been appointed as follows: Supper—Mrs. H. B. Ford, Mrs. F. H. Hill, Mrs. J. E. Ford, Mrs. M. W. Penley, Mrs. Clara A. Riddon, Fancy Work Table—Mrs. E. E. Wheeler, Mrs. Dora M. Jackson, Mrs. E. R. Davis, Mrs. L. M. Mann, Mrs. G. W. Riddon, Apron Table—Mrs. E. E. Teall, Mrs. Miva E. Locke, Mrs. C. E. Chase, Mrs. Sarah E. Curtis, Quilt Table—Mrs. Emma W. Mann, Mrs. J. L. Marshall, Mrs. A. D. Swift, Mrs. C. L. Riddon. For Entertainment—Mrs. Levi Shedd, Miss Jennie M. Jones, Mrs. V. E. Ellingwood. Mr. Miss Lodge, J. O. O. F. of West Paris are expected by special auto to visit West Paris Lodge No. 15 next Saturday evening, the 7th. The W. O. T. U. will hold their regular meeting Thursday of this week with Mrs. T. F. Bannons. The program is in charge of Mrs. D. R. Ford.

Oswald Nebekah Lodge has divided the members into two sides for a contest with the Noble Grand, Mrs. A. D. Ford and Vice Grand, Miss Mabel M. Baker as captains. In December it is the intention of each side to give a public entertainment to see which can make the most money.

The Ladies Social Circle of the Free Baptist church have deferred their annual and entertainment until about the 1st of December. Quite a number of our young people are having an attack of tonsillitis and several of the school children are having the whooping cough. ## COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Oxford County Citizen:

On Oct. 30th, we received from L. W. Blanchard, an attorney at law, and one of the officers of the Mexico Water Co., the following communication:

"I call your attention to Sec. 1, Chapter 129, Revised Statutes of the State of Maine. I wish you to study this section carefully. I understand that you have been making remarks that the Mexico Water Company's source of supply runs through your farm, which you, knowingly, have defiled, and will simply say that if more of this talk is made, we shall call the matter to the attention of our district attorney and get indictment against you under this section, to which your attention is called.

Very truly,
L. W. Blanchard."

The above letter sets forth a most serious charge, and any citizen who would be guilty of the commission of the acts which the letter describes, is deserving of the utmost contempt. We have been residents of the town of Mexico for about a dozen years, have done business with various parties in this community, and we are willing to be judged by the reputation we have established in the community where we now reside.

The facts of the case to which the letter refers are these: The Mexico Water Company, during the past spring and summer, constructed a dam across what is known as Thompson Hill brook, in Mexico, somewhere in the neighborhood of a hundred rods from our farm buildings. By means of this dam, together with some excavations which have been made by the Company, a pond has been formed, which takes of the sources by which the Mexico Water Company furnishes its supply of water. Into this brook, which has been dammed by the Company there flows a small brook which is formed in a swamp, a short distance back of our farm buildings and runs between our house and barn.

These buildings have been erected over a century ago. The brook we have reason to suppose has been flowing where it now flows for time immemorial. There have been no alterations, either in the brook or buildings which we occupy and possess, since our occupancy, which began about twelve years ago. It is undoubtedly a fact that the brook, flowing where it does, takes up on its way more or less sewage from our barnyard and buildings near which it flows. It has been so ever since we have occupied the premises, and from the natural construction of the brook and the surroundings, nothing different could take place.

We have stated, at different times, that in our opinion the water was not fit for domestic purposes, a fact which could have been ascertained by the Mexico Water Co. on slight investigation, before it went to the expense and trouble of building their reservoir. The charge made in the letter, above referred to, that we, knowingly and wilfully defiled and contaminated the water, is an absolute and unqualified falsehood.

We don't propose to reconstruct the surface of the earth, to remove our buildings or sell our stock, in order to purify the water supply of the Mexico Water Company. If we have done anything for which we can be indicted by the district attorney we welcome the investigation. We haven't had time to consult the section of the Revised Statutes to which Mr. Blanchard kindly referred us, as we consider that it applies to criminals, and not to men who mind their own business, and conduct themselves according to the code of good citizenship.

Thanking you for the space given to this correspondence, we remain,
Sincerely yours,
DAVID FRANKS,
JOSEPH FRANKS.

MEAL IN OPEN AIR

DAINTIES SUITABLE FOR THE PICNIC LUNCH.

Sandwiches and Eggs Probably the Most Important Features--Vienna Jelly Rolls--Fruit Salads--For Good Butter Scotch.

The secret of spreading an appetizing picnic lunch lies in making it look dainty and fresh. Crumpled and soggy sandwiches, meats that are dry and staled that is strong from having been mixed with the dressing too long do not tempt the fastidious picnicer.

For the luncheon itself sandwiches and eggs make up the important feature. The eggs should be boiled just long enough before the start to give them a chance to get thoroughly cooled. Eight or ten minutes is not too long to cook them, and if they are thrown into ice water the shells can be removed almost at once. Stuffed eggs make a delicious picnic dish, the dressing giving them a decided relish. The eggs will keep fresh looking and will have a daintier and more appetizing appearance if each is rolled in a crisp lettuce leaf and then wrapped in paraffin or oiled paper.

Chicken sandwiches are always tempting. For these the recipe reader. One-half cup finely chopped chicken, two level tablespoons grated cheese, one-half level teaspoon prepared mustard, one-fourth level teaspoon salt, one-eighth level teaspoon paprika, cream to moisten.

Mix the ingredients thoroughly and spread between thin slices of buttered entire wheat bread. A lettuce leaf moistened with French dressing and placed over the mixture in each sandwich will be an addition.

Vienna jelly rolls are always appreciated. To make the rolls, add one-half level teaspoon of salt to two cups of bread flour and rub in a rounding tablespoon of butter. Dissolve half a level teaspoon of sugar in lukewarm water, and a level teaspoon of sugar and turn into the flour. Add one beaten egg and beat all well together. Cover and let rise until morning. Butter hot gem pans. Fill half full of the risen batter, let stand a few minutes and bake in a quick oven. Split and fill with a tart jelly.

Fruit salads are exceedingly grateful to the appetite. An excellent salad is made by cutting oranges in half and removing all the pulp and also the seeds. Cut the fruit into small pieces and mix with a thick paste of talcum powder and water. Apply the paste to the fruit and mix thoroughly.

walnuts and a small bottle of Maraschino cherries, chopped. Place this mixture in the orange shells, and put a tablespoonful of mayonnaise dressing on top. Serve on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves.

Finally, here is the chance of a lifetime to enjoy butter scotch.

For this, two-thirds pint granulated sugar (or one pint brown sugar), one-half teaspoonful cold water, one-quarter pint butter, two tablespoonfuls vinegar. Mix all together in a skillet and place on the fire. Stir carefully to keep it from scorching. When done pour out on a well greased plate to cool.

Drinking Barley Water. Now that grown-ups as well as babies drink chilled barley water during the warm weather, every one is learning how to make it.

It is supposed to be better than lemonade and has excellent tonic properties. It is recommended by all doctors for those whose stomachs are not very strong through the summer season.

A good way to make it is as follows: Put a scant cupful of barley in an earthen vessel and cover with two or three quarts of boiling water. When cold, strain and add lemon juice. It should be kept on ice in order that it may be chilled. This is better than serving it with cracked ice in a glass.

Lead Pig Pudding.

Cook half a cupful of rice in milk until soft, then press it through a sieve, and to the puree thus obtained add the beaten yolks of two eggs and half a cupful of powdered sugar, stirring well until thoroughly blended, then add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, one pint of finely minced figs. Turn into freaser and freeze hard, serving it molded in croquette forms, resting on small squares of sponge cake.

Grease from Soup.

If soup is to be used the same day it is apt to be greasy unless special care is taken to prevent it. As you have not time to wait until the liquid is cold enough to remove the cake of fat from the top, pour the hot soup through a cloth wrung out of lead water.

The chilled cloth coagulates the grease and retains it while the soup passes readily through.

To Clean White Clothes. Any white materials which cannot be laundered in the usual way may be cleaned with a thick paste of talcum powder and water. Apply the paste to the material and mix thoroughly.

ing it can be brushed off with a white broom. If the stains of dirt do not disappear after one application, try again. It will usually remove them from the finest laces or woolen goods and is quite harmless.

Digestible Doughnuts. When trying doughnuts have a stick of boiling water on the stove; dip the cakes in this while still hot from the fat. The cakes are rendered more digestible and after the water has cooled the fat can be removed and the saved.

Different Names. "I understand," said the old-time friend, "that you are getting right exclusive."

"Well," answered Mr. Cramer, "that's what mother and the girls call it."

"What do you call it?" "Plain 'lonesome,'"--Washington Star.

The Altruism of Benefits. "You believe in the greatest good for the greatest number, do you not?" said the altruist.

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin, "but this is a mercenary age. The greatest number doesn't count when it has a dollar mark in front of it."--Washington Star.

Failed to See the Connection. "What did that man say when you told him you had seen a sea serpent?" "His conversation became irrelevant. He began to talk about local option and prohibition."--Washington Star.

A Warning. "I see where Waggoner died suddenly. Was his death due to his heart?" "Well, yes, in a way. He asked too many people if it was hot enough for them."--Baltimore American.

All in Harmony. "That laundry trust is strictly up-to-date."

"Yes, I understand it is going to be installed itself in a Hat-tron building."--Baltimore American.

Reverend. The leap year girl had just passed.
